Alice Bolgova

Alice Bolgova was born and raised in Moscow into a Polish-Russian family. She holds an engineering degree in computer science and has been studying theology at St. Thomas Institute of Philosophy and Theology in Moscow.

She arrived in Oregon in 2017. Being far away from home she rediscovered her interest in traditional Slavic culture including embroidery, traditional costume, and subsequently, iconography.

Alice wearing her handmade, beaded traditional headdress.

Alice is the Classical Iconography Institute Librarian and teaches traditional Russian iconographic calligraphy.